Youth's imagination

The following letter was written by nine-year-old John Kempf, son of employee Kathy Kempf at K-mart 3193, Marlton, NJ. It was addressed to personnel supervisor Elsie Taylor.

Dear Mrs. Taylor:

I was wondering if during the summer I could take a job at K-mart. I could clean up the toys and put things on the shelves. All I really want is maybe $1 or nothing. All I really want to do is help K-mart.

Signed: John Kempf

P.S. I could ride with my mom.

*Rings, Kites and woolen socks,
coffee pots and cuckoo clocks,
kids books and teachers chalk.
Buy the things they have in stock.
Girls coats and boys shirts,
men's slacks and women's skirts,
girls dolls and boys sweaters,
stationery for fancy letters.
Classmate pencils, teacher's books,
clerks that don't give you dirty looks.
Boys trucks, baby's rattles,
war games for boys to fight battles,
mothers dresses, fathers ties, cupcakes and
cherry pies, gold cokes and grape slurpies,
better watch out you'll get the burpies.
Children's jackets, tennis rackets, hair barrettes
and stuffed pets.
I haven't even begun to start of all the things they have at K-mart!*
